With significant community input over three years, the Comprehensive Plan is being prepared for presentation to the Long Beach City Council. The January 25 meeting goal is to provide updated information on the planning process, an overview of how public input was incorporated into the plan, and the adoption timeline for the plan.

The meeting will include an overview of the planning process and steps for the plan adoption, zoning, and the next phases and break out groups for a discussion on the contents of the plan. City staff will be on hand to answer any questions you may have. Can't attend? Visit www.longbeachlistens.com to view the draft plan.
